

Terry Ingram – Director

A highly respected Canadian director with over 25 years experience in the industry. After years as a theatrical Stage Manager and AD, Terry crossed over to film and television as a director. He has since directed over 50 episodes of series television for almost every network in the United States and Canada and 30 plus television movies, and his work has taken him from Canada to Spain, the US and South Africa.

Terry's most recent credits include the Lifetime thrillers Empty Cradle and Vow of Violence, for Lifetime and the holiday family film Hats Off To Christmas, for Hallmark. His 2012 movie, The Wishing Tree, netted Hallmark their highest ratings of the year. Some of Terry's past credits include R.L. Stine's The Haunting Hour, Doc, Relic Hunter, La Femme Nikita, Total Recall: The Series and Kung Fu: The Legend Continues.

Terry is renowned for his extraordinary imagination, congeniality and command of his craft. His television and video releases have been shown across the planet, and have garnered him a reputation as a superior filmmaker who consistently delivers within budget and time constraints.
